Honorable Body: The flag of our nation presented by you to the Globe Public Schools has been received. It is a fine, large flag and we will secure for it a suitable pole as soon as possible. We will have it raised with a salute at suitable times according to the recommendations accompanying it, thus teaching to our youth indirectly but very materially, we think, reverence for our country for which it stands.

In behalf of patrons, pupils, teachers, directors and the general public, including the stranger within our gates, who may from a glimpse of its colors be inspired with more patriotic thought and feeling, we most cordially thank you. Respectfully,

W. O. KELLNER,
Clerk Board of School Dist. No. 1.

The Literary Entertainment.

The grand concert and ball for the benefit of a free reading room and library will take place tomorrow night. The concert will be under the direction of Prof. Charlton, and much of our best local talent will participate. An excellent programme has been prepared, and the entertainment promises to be an artistic success, and afford great pleasure to those who attend. After the concert the floor will be cleared for dancing, the music to be furnished by Prof. Barnett's orchestra.

The object is certainly a most worthy one and should receive liberal support from the people of Globe. It is proposed to open a reading room and library for the benefit of the public, where everyone will be welcome. The committee proposes to have four departments, reading room, writing room, reception room and library. We hope to see a large attendance at the entertainment tomorrow night, to encourage the committee to proceed with their plans.

Caught a Dreadful Cold.

Marion Kooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1638 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's cough remedy for a severe cold at that time which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I bought some for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by H. C. Hitchcock.

We offer no bails; our prices are uniform.

The famous Arizona copper mine owned by W. A. Clark, under the style of the United Verde Copper company, says the Mining and Metallurgical Journal, has long been regarded as the cheapest producer of copper in the world, and this reputation is abundantly sustained by the figures recently published concerning its operations last year. Its output was 13,200,500 pounds of blister copper. The receipts from copper are put at $3,775,621; this means an average of 13.3 cents per pound received for its copper during the year. The operating expenses of the mine are put down at $2,669,346, with construction charges included, or $1,899,236 otherwise. The gold and silver values obtained in the course of mining for copper amounted to $398,538, which can fairly be credited to operating expenses. Doing this and excluding construction expenditures from the operating expenses, we have a net cost of $1,200,688, or three cents a pound. This is far and away the lowest production cost in the world. Most of the Lake Superior costs, for example, are eight cents or thereabouts.

Quite a number of miners have lately been put to work on the Contention mine, at Tombstone. The Contention is the famous bullion producer of the early eighties, and it will gladden the hearts of the citizens of that locality to hear once more the familiar sound of pick and drill on the long abandoned Contention hill.

It was an ancient superstition among miners that tin would grow if the mines were to remain idle thirty or forty years. This idea has been traced through the centuries from the Phoenician miners in Spain to our own day.
